There is my summarize for the video I've been watched before :

So this is Aron a great teacher who should get a new job because he moved to Jacksonville because of his wife job. He is a good and interesting person in my personal perspective, basically he is a teacher, a good one I think. He has his own idealism and now has a good educational background with a master of education program it gives him more depth technique and methods to teaching people. Now, he is applying to REI an outdoors equipment or outdoors Event Organizer (I didn't get a good point about it) as a customer service. I think his thought about the similarity about being a teacher and being a customer service.

Being a teacher and customer service have the same challenge that is communicating with many people with different achievements and he has a good insight and good technique to do this. His aim is using communication skills to achieve his job desk goals. And he is an insightful person. His applying to being a customer service which is a core of a business, it's true though some people once suggest me to apply as a customer service on a company to learn its work flow.

The unique one is his answer for this question "what animal you want to look like?" he said "a local dog" with a straight face it's kinda pure and true.

That's all, thank you for making time to read my summarize sir.
